

SEEKING WEBMASTER

for Illumin

Published by USC Viterbi students, Illumin is an online magazine whose mission is to show how engineering affects our lives on a daily basis. Illumin has world-wide readership, our articles are cited on various academic and trade websites, and publishers have excerpted our articles in textbooks.

A staff of undergraduate editors, in conjunction with a graphic designer, a web developer, and a faculty advisor, publishes Illumin by editing, writing, and creating multimedia content for online articles and features.

We are currently seeking a team-oriented individual to fill the role of webmaster for the 2020-2021 academic year. The time commitment is 2-3 hours per week in meetings, and 8-10 hours per week of independent work. The position is paid by stipend and do not require work-study.

- Responsible for ensuring the smooth operation of the Illumin site

- Maintaining the frontend of the site

- Updating the various plugins

- Troubleshooting technical issues

- A background in web development helps, but is not required

- Knowledge of Wordpress encouraged

Send a resume, examples of any previous web development work, and an email letting us know why you're interested.

Please submit all materials by April 3, 2020

Send materials to illuminate@usc.edu

